

2017–2018 Visiting Scholar in Environmental Law

Sponsored by the Environmental Rights Institute of Widener University Delaware Law School

Michel Prieur

Emeritus Professor of Environmental Law, Universities of Strasbourg and Limoges; Honorary Dean, Limoges Law School; Founder, French Society for Environmental Law; Founder, French Law Review (Revue juridique de l'environnement).

October 9–13, 2017

Lecture Date: October 10*

Project Title: The Non Regression Principle in Environmental Law

Amy Sinden

James E. Beasley Professor of Law, Temple University Beasley School of Law

February 21–22, 2018

Lecture Date: February 22*

Project Title:

Environmental Rights as Civil and Political Rights

Itzchak Kornfeld

General Counsel M.E.J. Group, Ltd., Ma'alot Tarshisha, Israel and Philadelphia, PA

October 17–18, 2017

Lecture Date: October 17*

Project Title: What Law? Pragmatism in Environmental Jurisprudence

Anastasia Telesetsky

Senior Lecturer, University of Auckland, New Zealand Centre for Environmental Law

April 9–13, 2018

Lecture Date: April 12*

Project Title: Restoring for the Future: Duties and Norms of Ecological Restoration

Wil Burns

Co-Executive Director, Forum for Climate Engineering Assessment, School of International Service, American University

February 7–8, 2018

Lecture Date: February 8*

Project Title: Bioenergy and Carbon Capture and Storage: The Need for a Human-Rights Based Approach to Governance

Hugo Echeverria

Professor of Environmental Law, Universidad San Francisco de Quito, Ecuador

April 15–23, 2018

Lecture Date: April 19*

Project Title: Nature Goes to Court in Ecuador: Emerging Jurisprudence on Rights to Nature

Comments/Questions:

Faculty Series Chair: James R. May, Esquire; Distinguished Professor of Law; Co-Director, Environmental Rights Institute

Widener University Delaware Law School

4601 Concord Pike, Wilmington, DE 19803-0406

t: 302-477-2060 e: jrmay@widener.edu

All lectures will begin at noon in the Alfred Avins Special Collections Room — lunch provided.

Widener University
Delaware Law School